

Mentor Role in Success

Mentor plays a vital role for success. He/ She can nurture your inner greatness which makes you move forward in your professional and personal life. I have several opportunities to be a mentor for different individuals and based on my experience I am sharing following suggestions for all who are in search of mentor.

One sure path to greatness is to emulate someone who has already achieved it. A mentor can guide you personally and professionally by providing information, connection and encouragement.

1. Consider all avenues when searching for a mentor. While professional networking and associations are obvious choices to explore, your perfect mentor might be found in a neighbourhood group, at your coffee shop or on the playing ground.
2. When you make your ask, be very clear about why you chose that person, what you are hoping to accomplish and how you think he or she can help you achieve it.
3. Once you have found your mentor, make sure you clearly outline and share the same goals and expectations. Also, discuss how often you will be in person, on the phone or online.
4. Your mentor is putting valuable time and effort into the relationship, so do all you can to show your gratitude, whether it is assisting with a task, sharing a contact or helping out in some other way.
